What is the Online Community?

As an Online Member at Christian Fellowship Church, you are welcome to use and become part of our Christian Fellowship Online Community at cf.cchchurch.com. When you log in, you will be able to see: your own profile information, the groups you are participating in, the positions you hold, your own giving record, events you might be interested in, and much more! Plus, you will easily be able to communicate with other members. You can update your profile information and make sure that our records are correct. Also, you can fill in some of the "fun" information like the activities you enjoy, the music styles you prefer, your favorite radio station, etc. so that others can get to know you better. We hope you enjoy the online community!

Is my information private?

While our website is public, our online community is private in that only those who have a login and a password assigned to them can join in. After your request has been accepted, you will be given your login and password information. You can decide whether to participate and whether your information will be "listed" to other Online Members or "unlisted." Unlisted information is not seen by anyone beyond our staff and key leaders with "administrative privileges." Personal email addresses are only seen by church staff unless you reply to someone's email. Your personal financial giving records are only seen by you and our CF financial personnel.

How do I use the online community?

The best way to see what the Christian Fellowship Online Community is about is to visit the website www.christianfellowship.com and request a CCB login and password. Then you can look around and explore CCB. If you decide you don't want to be part of the community, you can update your privacy setting to "unlisted" and merely discontinue using it. However, remember that CCB is where church ministries schedule their volunteers, where we post the church calendar, where we list our upcoming events, and where members and groups can communicate. We hope that you will be able to get better connected by looking for Groups that may be of interest to you and then joining one!

What are the guidelines for use?

Please protect the privacy of fellow Members! Violating any of these guidelines may result in blocked access. By becoming an Online Community Member you agree to the following rules of use:

- The Online Community is intended for personal and ministry use. It is not for solicitation of any kind. Communication to large groups or multiple groups is approved and sent via Christian Fellowship Office.

- Protect the privacy of members by not giving their phone number or other personal information to people outside of the Online Community. If you would like someone's number and they are "unlisted," please ask them directly. Christian Fellowship cannot give out this information without prior consent. Our leaders guard and use this private information with care.
- Use the Online Community with care and courtesy for personal and friendly communication. Even if it's interesting, funny, or important, do not send unsolicited information. Do not add members to email lists outside the Online Community without prior consent.
- Members who engage in group message boards are not to disrespect other individuals, groups, churches, or organizations or attempt to solicit members for outside groups or organizations. Keep the group message boards and emails personal, positive, and profitable.
- Online Members who do not follow these guidelines and/or who abuse the Online Community will have their access to the system limited.
- Members are to inform the church office of any problems they encounter so a resolution can be found. Email: office@christianfellowship.com
